Well Woman wishes to advise patients that we cannot take bloods or swabs during Christmas, as laboratories close for the holiday period and do not re-open until the New Year. We regret any inconvenience this may cause (smear testing is unaffected as smears can be stored until our medical courier service collects them and takes them to the lab).

Well Woman wishes its patients a very Happy Christmas, and good health in 2012. Thank you for your support during 2011, and we look forward to assisting you with your health concerns in 2012.
